Head in the clouds: Pearl Charles

THIS WEEK'S HOTTEST BRAND NEW ACT

Pearl Charles

KEY TRACK: Imposter
LABEL: Kanine Records
MANAGEMENT: Future Now Management
TWITTER: @pearl_charles

WHO: Shapeshifting Californian songwriter Pearl Charles' musical career started with country, before veering through garage rock and landing at the psychedelic sound that defines her upcoming new record, Magic Mirror.

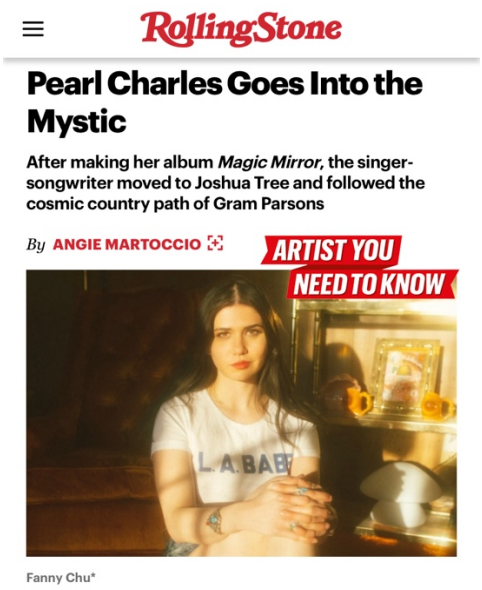

WHAT: Take a listen to recent single Imposter, which riffs on what happens when one looks in the mirror while tripping and references the Grateful Dead, to get an idea of Charles' far-out sound.

WHERE: Los Angeles, which is steeped in psychedelic musical history.

SO I SHOULD TURN ON, TUNE IN AND DROP OUT? Right on! Writer Timothy Leary's storied words at 1967 hippy gathering Human Be-In certainly apply. And with the world still in the throes of some rather serious misery, Charles' musical escapism is a welcome break.

I SURE NEED A BREAK, WHEN'S THE ALBUM OUT? Magic Mirror drops on January 15 via esteemed indie Kanine Records. Charles' country schooling equals classic songwriting, which consistently shines through the record's fug. Like we said, it's a welcome break.

ARTIST YOU NEED TO KNOW

Fanny Chu*

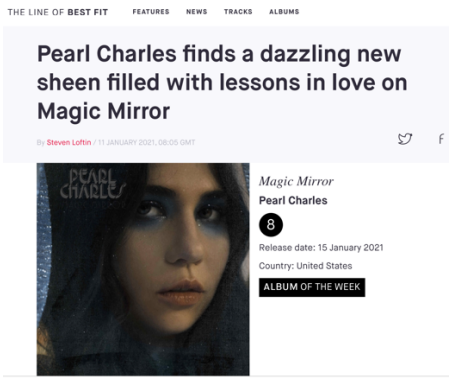

“A cosmic country mirrorball vibe, like if ABBA and Gram Parsons had a baby.”
Rolling Stone – Artist You Need to Know

“An impressive and mature album with a freewheeling sense of optimism” The Independent ****

“There’s a little bit of Fleetwood Mac in there, there’s a little bit of Linda Ronstadt, you’ll get a little bit of Bobbie Gentry’s country funk, and maybe a little bit of The Byrds Sweetheart of the Rodeo, it’s all kind of mixed in there all nice like” NPR Music

“A blissful journey of cosmic country, disco and poppy psych rock that dances its way into the new year” Exclaim!

“Modern day reflections on disco euphoria and Canyon contemplation” Uncut Magazine

ALBUM OF THE DAY

“Magic Mirror is like a compendium of American music from the 1960s on, combining razor-sharp lyrics, confiding, crystalline vocals and nods to classic country rock and soft pop, with results that are ensnaring and bewitching”
The Sunday Times (UK)

“With the world still in the throes of some rather serious misery, Charles’ musical escapism is a welcome break”
Music Week

“A charmingly cosmic songwriter with a flair for luscious hooks” Flood Magazine

"This glamour-tinged world of Charles' feels welcome" The Line of Best Fit Album of the Week

"A needed dose of cheerful escapism" Gigwise 9/10

"Though retro sounds form the backbone of Magic Mirror, genre-wise, the album is something of a shape-shifter."
Bandcamp Album of the Day

"A pleasing tangle of sun-warmed melodies and 1970s influences" All Music ****
